AREAS OF PRACTICE

Siv Madland has her core competence from the energy business (oil and gas) with 19 years of experience from the industry. She has provided legal advice on the supplier side within Halliburton and Subsea 7, and recently on the operator side with Talisman/Repsol. In several of these positions she has held management roles, which have provided good understanding of the industry. During her time as an employee in Kluge, she was part of the energy group.

Madland has specialized expertise in contract law, she has particularly worked with drafting, negotiating, project management and claims management in all types of offshore contracts. This applies to offshore service and fabrication contracts, rig contracts (services and modifications), decommission contracts, oil & gas sales agreements among others.

From the operator industry, Madland has experience from the entire value chain; from exploration, development, production and decommission of petroleum activities. She has vast experience working towards the regular framework conditions (the Petroleum Act with regulations), as well as license conditions and legal aspects concerning the joint operating agreement. In recent years, Madland has wide experience from decommission projects and decommission agreements on the Norwegian continental shelf. She also has extensive experience with license transactions and restructuring processes/M&A, as well as corporate governance work.

Legal counselling in close interaction with the clients has given her thorough experience and an analytical approach, with focus on results and good commercial solutions tailored for the client.
